

Urbana 28 September 1911

Mr. A.G.S. Josephson,
2239 Greenleaf Ave.,
Rogers Park, Chicago.

My dear Mr. Josephson:-

In reply to your letter of the 25th which came yesterday, I take pleasure in stating that so far as I know Miss Sparks is still available for the work of which you write, and I imagine will be glad to undertake it, though, as she has no telephone, I have been unable to speak to her about the matter since the receipt of your letter. Since my letter of last summer, Miss Forrest has been appointed to a position in Western Pennsylvania so she is no longer available. So far as I know, Miss Sparks is about the only person capable of doing the work who is at present available. I think you have her address.

Believe me,

Very truly yours,

FS/HLP

Assistant Professor of Library Economy

(Frances Simpson)

Sparks, Marion

Urbana 28 September 1911

Mr. A. G. S. Josephson,
2239 Greenleaf Ave.
Rogers Park, Chicago.

My dear Mr. Josephson:

In reply to your letter of the 25th which came yesterday, I take pleasure in stating that so far as I know Miss Sparks is still available for the work of which you write, and I imagine will be glad to undertake it, though, as she has no telephone, I have been unable to speak to her about the matter since the receipt of your letter. Since my letter of last summer, Miss Forrest has been appointed to a position in Western Pennsylvania so she is no longer available. So far as I know, Miss Sparks is about the only person capable of doing the work who is at present available. I think you have her address.

Believe me,

Very truly yours,

FS/HLP

Assistant Professor of Library Economy

[Handwritten] (Frances Simpson)

[Handwritten across the right margin: Sparks, Marion]

Herbert O. Tomlinson & Co.

Largest Book Brokers in the World

Imported and DeLuxe Editions

Book Bargains Always

Libraries Bought and Sold

Chicago Office, 431 South Dearborn Street

Chicago Dec. 4, 1911

Miss Frances Simpson
University Library
Urbana

Dear Miss Simpson

You wrote me some time ago that Miss Sparks did not have a pleasing personality. Just what does that mean? Is she not fitted to look after the work of less experienced people? That is part of what one would have to do in the present job.

Kindly answer by return mail - address me at the ~~Library~~ library. Yours truly
Herbert O. Tomlinson

NEW YORK

CHICAGO

Herbert O. Tomlinson & Co.
Largest Book Brokers in the World

Imported and DeLuxe Editions

Book Bargains Always

Libraries Bought and Sold

Chicago Office, 431 South Dearborn Street

Chicago Oct. 4, 1911

Miss Francis Simpson

University Library

Urbana

Dear Miss Simpson

You wrote me some time ago that Miss Sparks did not have a pleasing personality. Just what does that mean? Is she not fitted to look after the work of ten experienced people? That is part of what she would have to do in the present job.

Kindly answer by return mail – address me at the library.

Yours truly

Aksel G. S. Josephson

Urbana 10 October 1911

Mr. A. G. S. Josephson,
The John Crerar Library,
Chicago, Illinois.

My dear Mr. Josephson:-

In reply to your letter received a few days ago, permit me to state that my statement with regard to Miss Sparks's personality refers to her person's appearance and not to her mentality. I think she would be able to superintend the work of others if she had it to do. She has certainly been called upon to do that kind of thing in former years as she has organized several public libraries in different parts of the country. She is not at all attractive personally and usually shows a rather eccentric taste in dress. I do not think it is altogether a question of finances with her but one of individuality. I have known her for a good many years, and I have seen practically no change in her attitude. She does not look like anybody else in the world and does not seem to want to. I trust I have given you the information that your letter calls for. It is a rather difficult matter to write such a letter as this. If you knew the situation I think you would agree with me.

Believe me,

Very sincerely yours,

FS/ELP

Assistant Professor of Library Economy

Sparks, Marion

Urbana 10 October 1911

Mr. A. G. S. Josephson,
The John Crerar Library,
Chicago, Illinois.

My dear Mr. Josephson:

In reply to your letter received a few days ago, permit me to state that my statement with regard to Miss Sparks's personality refers to her personal appearance and not to her mentality. I think she would be able to superintend the work of others if she had it to do. She has certainly been called upon too [sic] do that kind of thing in former years as she has organized several public libraries in different parts of the country. She is not at all attractive personally and usually shows a rather eccentric taste in dress. I do not think it is altogether a question of finances with her but one of individuality. I have known her for a good many years, and I have seen practically no change in her attitude. She does not look like anybody else in the world and does not seem to want to. I trust I have given you the information that your letter calls for. It is a rather difficult matter to write such a letter as this. If you knew the situation I think you would agree with me.

Believe me,

Very truly yours,

FS/HLP

Assistant Professor of Library Economy

[Handwritten across the right margin: Sparks, Marion]